General information and risks
Collective Investment Schemes (CIS) in securities are generally medium- to long-term investments. The value of participatory interests (units) or the investment may go down as well as up and past performance is not a guide to future performance. Fluctuations or movements in the exchange rates may cause the value of underlying international investments to go up or down. CIS are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. Where foreign securities are included in a portfolio, the portfolio is exposed to risks such as potential constraints on liquidity and the repatriation of funds, macroeconomic, political, foreign exchange, tax, settlement and potential limitations on the availability of market information. The portfolios may be capped at any time in order for them to be managed in accordance with their mandate. Excessive withdrawals from the portfolio may place the portfolio under liquidity pressures and in such circumstances a process of ring-fencing of withdrawal instructions and managed payouts over time may be followed. The fund may borrow up to 10% of the market value to bridge insufficient liquidity.

The fund's risk and reward category may not capture all material risks to which the fund may be subject, such as:
Geopolitical risk – investments in equities issued or listed in different countries may imply the application of different standards and regulations, exposure to changes in laws or restrictions applicable to such investments, changes in exchange control regulations, or price volatility.
Liquidity risk – in extreme market conditions some equities may become hard to value or sell at a desired price.
Exchange rate risk – The fund may invest in equities denominated in currencies other than US dollars, which exposes the fund to fluctuations in exchange rates. Further information on risks may be found in the 'Risk factors' section in the fund's prospectus.
